

NAHDO owes its existence to the growth of public access health care data: hospital discharge and emerging All-Payer Claims Databases (APCDs).

Did you know....that NAHDO and the University of New Hampshire ARE the APCD Council? Together, we are working to advance the collection and strategic use of claims-based data for the public good.

We thank you for your continued support through membership!

About NAHDO

NAHDO is dedicated to the improvement of publicly-available health care data reporting programs. Membership has been the foundation of NAHDO since 1986, sustaining the organization and supporting a national network of health care data experts and leaders. Since 2007, NAHDO and the University of New Hampshire established a joint collaboration in the form of the APCD Council to support the APCD Learning Network. Today, your membership, in part, sustains both NAHDO and the APCD Council.
