First Planning Call

Thursday

March 14, 2019

3:00 pm ET

We invite you to take part in this opportunity to network with national experts and stay informed about emerging initiatives. Please reply via email to info@nahdo.org or by calling 801/532-2299 by Friday March 8, to volunteer for the 2019 NAHDO Annual Conference Program Committee.

NAHDO's meetings have always been an excellent source of current issues on healthcare and data. These meetings bring together a network of state, federal, and private sector technical and policy leaders and consultants to expand health systems development and shape responsible health information policies. We hope you can join the NAHDO team in planning for this year's meeting.

We invite you to participate in the only conference dedicated to the collection, analysis and dissemination of health care data to improve policy and market decisions
